Gentlemen—We. the undersigned month in true modern business fashion.

The section chief must see that the the Virginia Navigation Company being allowed to discontinue its service material. ing allowed to discontinue its service on the James River, between Richmond and Norfolk, Va. This steamboat service is the only means that this section has of shipping its products to market or shipping in necessary supplies. This landing, Sandy Point wharf, supplies about twenty-five square miles of territory. Our nearest shipping point on a railroad is Providence Forge, which is on the Chesapeake and Ohlo, and this is twenty-five miles, over very undestrable roads that are absolutely impassable six months of the year. Below is given the acreage in cultivation on farms shipping from Sandy Point:
